

Challenging stereotypes

1. Individually, do you agree/disagree with any of these statements? In your opinion, would you substitute the word 'all' or "always" for "most" 'some', 'a few', 'none' "sometimes" "frequently" etc. in any of these statements?
2. Working in small groups, discuss your answers.

In Ireland

- All people have red hair
- All people have potatoes for their dinner
- All people speak Irish
- All people like Guinness
- All people are very friendly
- All people are very religious
- All people live in houses
- All people know each other
- It rains always rains
- It is always overcast

In Germany

- All German people are tall and blonde
- All German people are organised
- All German people are punctual
- All German people are serious and strict
- All German people drink beer and eat sausages
- All German people go to Oktoberfest
- All German people drive BMW or Audi cars
- All German-speaking people live in Germany
- All German people are very wealthy