

Challenging stereotypes

1. Individually, do you agree/disagree with any of these statements? In your opinion, would you substitute the word 'all' or "always" for "most" 'some', 'a few', 'none' "sometimes" "frequently" etc. in any of these statements?
2. Working in small groups, discuss your answers.

In Ireland

- All people have red hair
- All people have potatoes for their dinner
- All people speak Irish
- All people like Guinness
- All people are very friendly
- All people are very religious
- All people live in houses
- All people know each other
- It rains always rains
- It is always overcast

In Italy

- All Italian people take a nap during the middle of the day
- All Italian people talk with their hands
- All Italian people eat pizza every day
- All Italian people love and play football
- The weather in Italy is always hot
- All Italian people live in apartments
- All Italian people have dark skin, hair and eyes
- All Italian-speaking people live in Italy